DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claim(s) 1-10 and 14-15 is/are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as not falling within one of the four statutory categories of invention. While the claims recite a series of steps or acts to be performed, a statutory "process" under 35 U.S.C. 101 must (1) be tied to particular machine, or (2) transform underlying subject matter (such as an article or material) to a different state or thing. See page 10 of In Re Bilski 88 USPQ2d 1385. The instant claims are neither positively tied to a particular machine that accomplishes the claimed method steps nor transform underlying subject matter, and therefore do not qualify as a statutory process. The method including steps of determining and calculating are broad enough that the claim could be completely performed mentally, verbally or without a machine nor is any transformation apparent.

3. Claim(s) 1-15 is/are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as not falling within one of the four statutory categories of invention. Viewed as a whole, the claimed invention merely expresses a method for calculating the interval of the clock. Therefore, it does not impart any function to the processing system, i.e., the claimed invention is not practical applied. The other three § 101 classes of machine, compositions of matter and manufactures can be group as product claims, and the product classes have required physical structure or material.

That is, it must produce a "useful, concrete and tangible result." State Street, 149 F.3d at 1373-74 USPQ2d at 1601-02. The purpose of this requirement is to limit patent protection to invention that possess a certain level of "real world" value, as opposed to subject matter that represent nothing more than an abstract idea or concept, or post solution is simply a starting point for further investigation or research (Brenner v. Manson, 383 U.S. 519, 528-36, 148 USPQ 689, 693-96 (1966)); In reFisher, 992 F.2d 1197, 1200-03, 26 USPQ2d 1600, 1603-06 (Fed. Cir. 1993)).
